

Dear Commissioners of the FCC,
Please retain the remaining rules governing media ownership. Further concentration of ownership will have serious consequences for our culture and democracy, by stifling dissenting voices, discouraging participation, and further alienating the country from the democratic process. We need more diversity, not less; our way of life depends on encouraging a spirit of debate and the ability to hear different points of view.

As an independent writer, thinker, and citizen of the United States, I am gravely concerned that further deregulation of our mass media would reduce competition, harm the freedom of speech on which this great country was founded, and deprive me and many others from the means to earn a living and fully embrace our democratic ideals.

I urge you to keep the rules in place to protect us now and to protect the future for our children.

Yours truly,
Kellie M. Delaney
